

Orientation for New Faculty

THE UNIVERSITY OF
TENNESSEE
KNOXVILLE

New Employee Orientation

- Hosted by Human Resources
- Every Monday except August 5. A faculty-only session will be offered on Friday, August 2.
- New Employee Orientation is a welcome to campus. We introduce new Vols to the history and traditions of the university, as well as the important nuts and bolts of insurance, parking, safety, retirement, etc. New faculty will be issued UT ID cards.
- For more information, visit hr.utk.edu/orientation or call 865-974-6642.

ORE Welcome Luncheon for New Faculty

- Hosted by the Office of Research and Engagement
- Tuesday, August 6
- Enjoy lunch and learn how ORE will support your success as a faculty member at UT. You will have the opportunity to speak with ORE staff about internal funding opportunities, finding and applying for external funds, engaged scholarship, research compliance, and mentoring students in research and creative activities.
- For more information, visit research.utk.edu/new-faculty-orientation.

New Faculty Orientation

- Hosted by the Office of the Provost and Senior Vice Chancellor
- Monday, August 5, and Tuesday, August 6
- New Faculty Orientation provides an overview of the university's mission, highlights the critical role of faculty in student success, and introduces campus resources that support faculty success and build campus connections. It also offers opportunities to network with other new faculty, including an evening reception in Neyland Stadium.
- For more information, visit provost.utk.edu/new-faculty-orientation-2019.

New Faculty Teaching Institute

- Hosted by Teaching and Learning Innovation
- Thursday, August 8, and Friday, August 9 in Strong Hall
- Whether you're beginning your teaching career or are an experienced instructor, the New Faculty Teaching Institute offers faculty new to UT the opportunity to learn about various campus resources that are available to support instructors' teaching and students' learning. In addition to networking and building relationships among fellow new UT faculty from diverse disciplines, faculty will be able to think intentionally about how to engage students in the classroom and online through mini workshop sessions, panel discussions and demonstrations. Topics include building learning outcomes, creating assessment plans, active learning in online environments, inclusive teaching strategies, and much more.
- For more information and to register, visit teaching.utk.edu/nfti. For general questions, contact tli@utk.edu.

Networking & Resource Fair

- Hosted by the ASCEND Program
- Tuesday, August 6, from 1:30 to 4 p.m. in Student Union 272A/B (2nd floor)
- Immediately following the ORE Welcome Luncheon, the Networking & Resource Fair is open to all new faculty to help grow their connections at UT by providing an informal opportunity to meet campus leaders, network, and ask questions about resources and services offered to support faculty success on campus.
- For more information, visit ascend.utk.edu or stop by the ASCEND booth.
